

A Tribute to Sylvester Turner from CReed Global Media

Dear CReed Community,

It is with deep sadness that we acknowledge the passing of Sylvester Turner, a dedicated public servant whose impact on Houston and beyond will be felt for generations. His unwavering commitment to public service, spanning over three decades, shaped our city and strengthened our communities in extraordinary ways.

From his early days in the Texas House of Representatives, where he spent 27 years advocating for Houstonians, to his tenure as Houston's 62nd Mayor, Turner led with vision, resilience, and a deep love for his city. Under his leadership, Houston navigated historic challenges, including Hurricane Harvey, and emerged stronger through major reforms in infrastructure, pension systems, and community development.

Beyond policy, Mayor Turner was a champion for economic growth, equity, entertainment and the arts, ensuring Houston became a thriving hub for business and culture. Most recently, he was elected to represent Texas's 18th congressional district in the U.S. House of Representatives, succeeding the late honorable Congresswoman Sheila Jackson Lee, and Congresswoman Erica Lee, continuing his lifelong mission to uplift communities and create opportunities at the national level. His passing, so soon after taking office, is a profound loss.

At CReed Global Media, we honor his legacy and the lasting imprint he left on Houston. His commitment to fostering opportunity and innovation is one we will continue to build upon as we work to empower our city's creatives, businesses, and communities.

Our thoughts are with his family, friends, and all those who had the privilege of witnessing his remarkable service. May we continue his vision and ensure that his passion for progress lives on in the work we do.

With our deepest condolences,

Centrell Reed
